The Dead Sea is called a Sea but it is actually a salt water lake, bordered by Jordan to the east and on its west is Israel and Palestine. It's surface and shores are between 1300 -1400 fts. below sea level, Earth's lowest elevation on land.. It's a hypersaline lake that is truly one of Earth's unique places. The Dead Sea is one of the world's saltiest bodies of water, people can easily float in the Dead Sea due to natural floatable. The Dead Sea is almost 10 times saltier than the ocean, and has become a major center for health research and treatment for several reasons.

Biblically, Ein Gedi and the surrounding desert, known as the Wilderness of Ein Gedi,(in the dead sea area) were part of the territory of the Tribe of Judah. David sought refuge from King Saul at Ein Gedi.
